Based in Charleston, SC, Glenn Raus is a singer/songwriter and multi-instrumental recording artist on ChicoSuave Records. Playing in bands and performing live since the late 80s, he has played on such iconic stages as the 23 East Cabaret in Philadelphia, The Ratskeller in State College, PA, and Awendaw Green in Charleston, SC.

He has written, and recorded three releases, that have garnered international play in nearly 75 countries. His debut EP, “You Don’t Know Me”, was released in 2018, the single, “Stagecoach Hold Up” in 2020, and his follow-up EP “frog” on March 31, 2024.

His live performances are highlighted by his extensive and wide ranging selection of his favorite songs from the 60’s through current day, touching on rock, alternative, pop, classic country, and Americana. He also mixes in some of his original material.

Certified Bop referred to his music as “seamlessly blending 60s British Invasion, the poetic vibes of Laurel Canyon, and a dash of avant-garde from the new wave era”.

Music Crowns tweeted, “...delights with melodic guitar arrangements and dreamy vocal harmonies that add to the magical feel”

For his new release, “frog”, “college/alternative rock” legends had this to say:

“Mysterious, engaging, and unique. This is a beautiful collection of songs that feels as if one is present for whispered secrets. Well done” - Murray Attaway, Guadalcanal Diary.

“A refreshing collection of songs that takes me back to a time that I am still fond of...a time of emotional sincerity and honesty in music” - Mike Richmond, Love Tractor

“A fresh-faced, alt-folk set of songs...beautifully constructed and performed. Each one displays his prowess at getting to the heart of the song unencumbered by overproduction, while skimming the waters of dream pop” - Mark Wilson Cline, Love Tractor

“Ethereal, enchanting, luscious and engaging. Glenn has put together a beautiful EP” - Walter Salas-Humara, The Silos
